March 25 - 27, 2022

La nostalgioteca is the name that Noís Radio collective (Cali, Colombia) has given to its intervention in El Caldo 2022. Through sounds, the collective proposes an encounter with the memory of certain movements: travel, migration, the escapes, the returns, the crossings. So that, while walking, the relationship between movement and sound becomes evident as key elements to awaken our capacity to narrate and listen about what we have experienced.

How does it work?

It is an outdoors radio walk in which sound appears as a conversation starter and memory connector on topics such as travel, movement and migration.

The participants are invited to take the walk and listen to an audio. Based on what they have heard, they can share a story, a sound, a sensation or a memory of their own.

In addition, the same participants will be able to question other people outside the group (passers-by we meet along the way) to propose the exchange of sounds and stories to enrich the nostalgioteca.

Requirements

No prior radio knowledge is required, just the willingness to walk for about two hours and the willingness to talk to other people. Conversations will be primarily in Spanish and English.
